

Jonay goes to school to find out how the new attendance app works. They said it should be simple enough for every student to use.

Jonay asks her classmate to help her figure out how to use the app. She eventually checks in for her math class.

Jonay talked to her teacher, Mrs. Harth, to make sure she could see that she checked into the class.

Jonay walks home thinking about how easy it was to check in to all her classes for attendance.
